I have allergies to the scent/fumes from certain inhaled substances - perfumes, cleaning solutions even car fumes can exacerbate it when sensitised. I do not want my health affected through my air at work or whilst using a public building being polluted by peoples vaping. Smokers aren't allowed to smoke inside, allowing vapers to do so is a retrograde step prioritising the addiction of a minority over the best interests of the majority and especially impressionable children and young people. Its isn't just about the possible carcinogenic affects of this type of air pollution, they have other effects too

As I work at a leisure centre and a non smoker I think the whole area should be non smoking as we have now.

I do not feel it is fair for non-smokers/vapers to be subjected to the smoke or vapour coming from cigarettes and vapes, whether it is a risk to health or not. Personally I feel that vaping is at risk of appearing glamorous or fashionable to the younger generation and not knowing the long term risks is a very dangerous prospect.

Needs to be supported by firm implementation of No Smoking (of actual cigarettes) and further public health campaigns as more information comes to light about vaping.

Having a policy on this matter is irrelevant if the policy is not enforced. The current policy on smoking is not always enforced despite warning notices etc.

as you have mentioned we do not know the long term effects of vaping, until we do I think we should not expose other people to vaping in public service areas

As a smoker trying to quit using an e-cig, I don't think the rules should change to those that are in place for smoking, however I can see the benefit to having designated places

Vaping needs to be classed as cigarettes. We didn't realise smoking was bad and also passive implication

Please can you make some specific comments for preconception and during pregnancy fully support individuals using vaping as a form of nicotine replacement therapy with a view to stopping all nicotine use in the future. Strongly disagree with normalising any form of smoking as this is likely to send mixed messages.
